BACK TO SCHOOL STEWARDSHIP IDEAS

School's back in session with new opportunities for giving and helping your children understand the meaning of stewardship.

Here are just a few ideas:

- Are you getting new "back to school" clothes? How about giving your old but gently used clothing to the women and children's shelter?
- When you buy school supplies, purchase a few extra notebooks, pens and pencils. Give them to your child's teacher with the intention of sharing them with less fortunate children. Did you know that many teachers buy extra school supplies with their own money?
- Many organizations collect "back to school" supplies for distribution to needy children. Check it out in your local community.
